SALT ON THE SAUNA

By gently heating the Himalayan salt, the hygroscopic properties of the salt are activated, allowing the natural humidity in the air to condense on the surface of the salt bricks and triggering the natural ionization process. During this process, the salt releases negative ions that, in turn, attach themselves to dust, bacteria, and other pollutants, effectively purifying the circulating air.

This release of negative ions helps mitigate positive electromagnetic ions in the air caused by our excessive use of cell phones, laptops, and computers. The heat will also help release the naturally occurring 84 trace minerals, which help you balance, heal the body, and positively impact digestion, memory, sleep, appetite, and mood.
